Crebbit Credit Card (Saving and Responsible Spending)

By Megan Piphus

Flea the frog dreamed of a life beyond the pond
He opened a credit card with hopes to just move on
A credit card arrived in just the nick of time
For Flea the Frog to jump and kiss the pond goodbye

Swipe, swipe
He swiped into a new life
Credit is a form of borrowing for buying
Just like borrowing a library book
Flea must pay back for what he took
How can he buy a brand new life
With no cash to back it up
He's gotta pay it, pay it back
To his Crebbit credit card

Flea the Frog hopped in his brand new limousine
To buy a mansion that he saw in a magazine
How can a jobless frog enjoy the finest things
Can he really have no cash and live his wildest dreams

Swipe, swipe
He swiped into a new life
Credit builds trust with the world for future buying
Credit cards don't give out free money
Flea must have cash saved to pay back, you see
How can he pay his card back
With no cash to back it up
He's gotta pay, pay it back
To his Crebbit credit card

One sad morning Mr. Mailman breaks the news
Time is up for spending, all the bills are due
One million dollars is the limit he blew through Flea is swamped in massive debt, what can he do

Swipe, swipe
He swiped into a new life
Credit cards charge interest when the bills are late
Interest is the cost of borrowing
Flea can't pay his debt so his bill keeps growing
How can he pay his, pay his bills

With no cash to back it up
He's gotta pay it, pay it back
To his Crebbit credit card

How sad of a song for Flea the Frog
To lose every little thing that he bought
He didn't have cash for the way he was spending
He treated his Crebbit credit card like free money

He's gotta pay, pay it back
To his Crebbit credit card
How can he pay his, pay his bills
With no cash to back it up
(sung by Flea) I gotta pay it, pay it back
To my Crebbit credit card
